RETIRED TEACHERS ASSOCIATION OF CHICAGO
Since 1926

VOL. LXIII

OCTOBER 2007

NO. 4

WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT OF RTAC

Congratulations to each of you who have now finally reached retirement! No more lesson plans; no more lunchroom duty; no more forms due in the office yesterday. You are free at last!

You are embarking on a new career as a retired teacher. With a great new life unfolding before you and your pension to support you, you are ready for the next adventure in your life.

We at the Retired Teachers Association of Chicago salute you and all the retired teachers of the Chicago Public Schools. We are sending all of you this issue of our quarterly publication to tell you just a bit about the community that's been working for you for years. Although you've left colleagues and friends behind, the existence of RTAC means that you are never alone.

Since 1926 RTAC has been the voice of Chicago's retired teachers. RTAC has represented us in Chicago, Springfield and Washington, D.C. Many of the benefits we enjoy today were won for us by RTAC's efforts. The article "Why Should You Join RTAC?" on page 3 lists some of the ways RTAC helps retired CPS teachers. RTAC's past accomplishments probably occurred while you were busy making lesson plans and grading papers. Perhaps they were not of much interest to you then, but they are most certainly of interest to you now.

Ethel Philpott

Pension funds with their enormous cash reserves have been attracting increasing attention among the ethically challenged. Tens of thousands of private sector workers have watched helplessly as corporation after corporation, with the blessing of the courts and Congress, either savaged their pension plans or wiped them out entirely. That hasn't happened to us – yet – but it's not because nobody's trying. RTAC has been vigilantly safeguarding those rewards for us for many years.

Once again, welcome to retirement and to RTAC. We look forward to counting you among our 10,000+ members. Add your voice to ours as we struggle on your behalf. (A prepaid membership envelope is in the center of this issue.)

RTAC MISSION STATEMENT

To serve as the primary advocate for retired teachers and to empower them by engaging in activities and services that will promote their well-being with particular emphasis on the maintenance and enhancement of their pension benefits.

WHY SHOULD YOU JOIN RTAC?

HERE ARE SOME OF THE THINGS THE RETIRED TEACHERS ASSOCIATION OF CHICAGO DOES FOR YOU:

- RTAC is working to obtain a minimum $18,000 pension for all CPS retirees.
 - RTAC efforts help minimize health insurance premiums for retirees.
 - RTAC helped strengthen retiree influence on the pension fund. (Many public employee pension funds have no retiree trustees on their pension boards; CPS retirees now have three.)
 - RTAC sponsors (and subsidizes) membership luncheons in the spring and in the fall of each year.
 - RTAC makes low cost dental insurance available to its members.
 - RTAC maintains a Telephone Law Service for answers to legal questions at no cost to its members.
 - RTAC maintains a Wall of Fame to honor those who have made outstanding contributions to the Association.
 - RTAC's efforts helped restore the rebate of health insurance premiums when it lapsed.
 - RTAC maintains highly effective legislative representation in Springfield to monitor and support matters of concern to retired teachers.
 - RTAC coordinates a Letter-A-Month Club of volunteers who make our needs known to legislators at all levels.
 - RTAC cooperates with the Pension Fund, the CPS and the CTU to formulate mutually desirable plans for legislative action.
 - RTAC founded the Chicago Retired Teachers Aid Fund, a separate entity which provides help for retirees in need. Because all administrative costs are borne by RTAC, all Aid Fund contributions go directly to beneficiaries.
 - RTAC's Service Committee outreach program remembers our most senior members with birthday and holiday cards, and sends flowers to members 100 and over.
 - RTAC provides ID Theft insurance free to members.
 - RTAC's Special Events Committee sponsors group tours and trips for members in the area.
- The RTAC News Bulletin, issued quarterly, publishes:
- a wide-ranging extensive listing of current things to see and do in Chicago,
 - a list of opportunities for volunteers,
 - news of the pension fund's condition, concerns and proceedings,
 - names of members seeking contact with former colleagues,
 - news of out-of-state satellite groups,
 - responses to Service Committee outreaches,
 - names of new life members,
 - names of contributors to RTAC and to the Aid Fund,
 - names of those honored by such contributions,
 - annuitant obituaries,
 - reports on the semi-annual membership luncheons,
 - reports on CTU retiree and legislative functions,
 - reports on the progress of pertinent legislation,
 - some of the choicest morsels of humor and wisdom from the Internet,
 - occasional tips on the use of computers and the Internet.
- RTAC's Internet web site, www.RTAC.org, which carries:
- Links so that you can identify and email your legislators
 - The latest news relevant to legislation concerning retirees,
 - Sample letters to send Federal and State legislators on behalf of retirees;
 - Co-sponsorship and voting records of legislators on important pending legislation;
 - Up-to-date information on important CPS retiree concerns;
 - A listing of paid job opportunities for retired teachers;
 - Links to more than 100 educational and entertainment venues in the area;
- (A prepaid membership envelope is in the center of this issue.)

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

By Robert F. Bures

By the time you have gotten to this page you probably realize that this issue of the News Bulletin is devoted to RTAC's mission. The formal mission statement is on the cover of this issue, and you can check back to it if you need to be reminded of what it is. RTAC's mission is to protect and enhance our pension and to enhance your life by engaging you in activities that are fun, educational and most of all life-extending!

Our most vital mission is to protect and enhance your (and my, too) pension. It is our responsibility to elect trustees to the Pension Fund that are trustworthy, honest, capable, idea-filled and with a commitment to service and leadership. Your RTAC Board of Directors unanimously endorsed three experienced candidates: Vaughn J. Barber, Walter Pilditch and James F. "Jim" Ward. When you get your ballot in the mail in late October, Vote for RTAC's Team of Three and mail it back right away so your votes count!

Making sure the Pension Fund is operating correctly and in a fiscally sound manner is only part of our mission. Having a strong presence in Springfield, Chicago and Washington is the other part. I usually press RTAC's positions in Chicago - meeting with Aldermen, supporting our Chicagoland friends in the Illinois General Assembly and the Executive Committee - particularly our President, Ethel Philpott, usually handles Congressional issues in Washington.

RTAC has, for the last many years, used Richard "Dick" Lockhart, President of Social Engineering, as our Registered Lobbyist in Springfield. Dick and his firm maintain a presence in both Chicago and Springfield. He is the former Speaker of the Third House in Springfield, the Third House being the Lobbyists and the title Speaker being an honorary one bestowed only on the most effective lobbyists. Social Engineering has been in business for 50 years! Dick knows everyone in Springfield and knows Illinois politics backward and forward! Be sure to look for Dick's article on page 11 in this News Bulletin summarizing the current looooooong General Assembly session.

Robert F. Bures

The other part of the RTAC equation is the fun part! Our Spring and Fall luncheons are now regularly drawing almost 800 members! They are a great way to renew old friendships and meet some new faces. RTAC subsidizes the cost of these luncheons to keep them affordable. Watch the mail for your invitation to our October 4, 2007 Fall Luncheon at the Palmer House. Respond quickly to avoid being disappointed.

RTAC also publishes this quarterly News Bulletin. I receive the newsletters of the other 49 state retired teacher organizations. Ours is far and away the best, longest, and most news worthy of them all. By the way, RTAC is the most powerful retired teachers association in the United States. Yes, some states have more members, but RTAC has the most penetration into the retired teacher numbers ... more than 50% of Chicago public school educator annuitants are DUES PAYING members.

Fun trips to Springfield's Lincoln Museum, Havana, Cuba, plays, architectural tours, lake cruises are just a few of the events we plan. We also provide a FREE Law Line enabling our members to consult an attorney on any topic, MetLife Dental Insurance, United Credit Union services, notary services, answers to health insurance questions, a direct line to our Pension Fund and answers to Medicare questions. RTAC also serves as a liaison to AARP, the Teachers Retirement System of Illinois (TRS), and other government services.

Another little-known RTAC service is the Aid Fund — officially known as the Chicago Retired Teachers Aid Fund, Inc. The group was formed to

CTC MEMORIAL PLAQUE INSTALLED AT RTAC HEADQUARTERS

Nostalgia mixed with pride and camaraderie June 27 when several members of the Chicago Teachers College Association gathered at RTAC headquarters to honor their alma mater by dedicating the striking bronze bas relief Memorial Plaque that will be displayed forevermore in RTAC headquarters.

Dr. Thomas A. Tufo, president of the Association, said he founded the organization in 2001 “to keep alive the spirit of the school. The wrecker’s ball has not removed that,” he said. Since then, more than 500 former students and faculty members have assembled for reunions. The group offers three scholarships annually to high school seniors interested in pursuing a career in teaching. They also produce a newsletter twice each year dedicated to maintaining the standards of excellence in education that was promoted by CTC.

The first teachers college in Illinois, CTC goes back to 1856. Between 1920 and 1948, CTC was the exclusive supplier of teachers to the Chicago

Public Schools. Every Chicago teacher, no matter what degree they held, was required to have a year and a half of teacher training at CTC.

Dr. Tufo credited CTC with giving large numbers of working class students the chance to obtain a degree. The $20 tuition fee insured that CTC graduates would not be saddled with the huge college debts so common today.

The site of CTC has moved many times since the original building was razed in 1975. When they conceived the idea of creating the memorial plaque, Association members sought a permanent home that could be trusted to remain in existence for a long time. RTAC headquarters was a natural choice for a safe place to guard the legacy of the Chicago Teachers College. RTAC has been here for 81 years, and, with 10,000+ members, is likely to last for many more. In addition, several RTAC directors and members got their teacher training at CTC, RTAC President Ethel Philpott, Executive Director Bob Bures, his wife Carol Bures and Treasurer Vaughn J. Barber, among them.

assist those retired educators who have fallen upon hard financial times. We have assisted dozens of annuitant-clients with direct cash assistance, some on a regular basis, some on a one time need basis, others with rent, hearing aid replacements and even with the most current public policy issue - victims of sub-prime predatory mortgage lending! If you know someone with a financial issue, call me directly at the RTAC office, 312.939.3327, and we'll talk about it. Don't hesitate.

Along with these services, we offer a place to sit down, have a coffee or a coke. raise your feet a bit and chat while in the Loop doing business, shopping or just passing by while waiting for the Museum or Theater to open! We're here at 220 South State in Suite 2100. We'd love to see you!

YES! RTAC does all of these things! Most important is that YOU communicate with us. Tell us your issues, tell us your needs, tell us how your pension is and tell us how you are doing. RTAC is interested in YOU!

Thanks for being an RTAC member!

Bob Bures

You will receive your ballot for the Chicago Teachers Pension Fund Election in October. RTAC endorses the following candidates for trustees of the fund. They all serve on the RTAC Board of Directors as well as the Pension Fund Board. They have brought years of successful leadership experience to guiding our Pension Fund. Under their capable direction, it has grown to over $12 billion and is one of the most solvent in Illinois. Please read and consider their messages before marking your ballot in the mail-in election.

MEET RTAC'S CANDIDATES FOR CTPF TRUSTEES

WALTER PILDITCH

In the fall of this year I will have completed ten years of service on the Board of Trustees of the Chicago Teachers Pension Fund. This includes six years as an active employee and then four years as a retiree. During that time I have served on several committees in addition to being vice-president of the Board two years ago. At present I am the chair of the Disability Committee.

Dr. Walter Pilditch

My Board memberships include the Chicago American Cancer Society, Chicago Boy Scouts of America, Chicago Principals and Administrators Association (Governing Board), Local Neighborhood Improvement Association, Retired Teachers Association (Past President), and the Student Science Fair Board. In addition I serve on North Central teams for school accreditation and as a community representative on the Local School Council of Kellogg Elementary School. One task I find most satisfying is being grants co-chair for the Chicago Retired Teachers Aid Fund. We have many teachers in great need either for special health conditions or due to advanced age

VAUGHN J. BARBER

During the 30 years in which I was employed by the Chicago Public Schools, I served as a teacher, administrator in government-funded programs, and a lobbyist in Springfield, Washington and the Chicago City Council.

In addition, after receiving a Juris Doctor degree, I was legal counsel in the law department of the Board of whose pensions are now not adequate to meet their present day needs. Funds are available for distribution to these teachers who demonstrate a genuine need. On the point of age I should mention we have 83 retired teachers over 100 years old!

If I am elected again to the Pension Board, my promises are seven fold: 1) Attendance at all regular and special Pension Board meetings; 2) Completing the necessary reading and research of the materials mailed before each meeting; 3) Attendance at one or two authorized conferences for better knowledge of investments for our Fund; 4) Service on one or more special committees of the Board; 5) Assistance in the evaluation of money managers hired by the Pension Fund; 6) Study of the Fund's legislative program and promotion of bill passage as needed; and 7) Cooperation with the officers of the Pension Fund and the Board of Trustees.

You will receive your ballot about mid-October for trustee candidates. Be sure to vote and mail back your ballot in time for the counting. Thank you for your consideration.

Education. After my retirement in 1994, I continued to practice law and became an active member of the Retired Teachers Association of Chicago (RTAC). For the past five years, I have been a part of RTAC's executive board serving as Treasurer.

In 2005, I was endorsed by the RTAC Board of Directors to run for the position of Trustee of the Chicago Teachers Pension Fund (CTPF). With your help, I was suc-successful and have served as a Trustee since 2005.

Though I had been on the board less than two years, I was appointed to chair the legislative and by-laws committee, which has aggressively introduced and pushed for passage of key legislation preserving the state's and city's responsibility for continued funding of our pension.

I was selected in July of this year to participate in a Program for Advanced Trustee Studies at Harvard Law School. The program was designed for the 50 persons who were invited from throughout the U.S. to share their experiences as trustees and provide direction for leadership.

My work as Trustee for CTPF is just beginning. I envision continued work with the state legislature and with my fellow trustees as we address the awesome task of maintaining the Fund's investments.

PENSION NOTES

1. From James F. Ward, Trustee

This is the issue of the News Bulletin in which the RTAC Board reaches out to newly retired Chicago teachers and to those who have not yet joined RTAC for one reason or another. Many of those who hesitate to join RTAC probably don't really understand what RTAC is and what it does for the retired teachers of the Chicago Public Schools.

Since 1926 RTAC has been an organization with a single purpose: to further the interests of retired Chicago teachers. Time after time, it has done just that. Over the years RTAC has successfully lobbied the Legislature so that now the retirees have three retirees sitting on the Pension Board, more retirees than any other pension board in Illinois.

Year after year some new threat emerges from the Board of Education, the City of Chicago, or the State Legislature. Time and again RTAC throws its time, resources, and expertise into helping retired teachers. Examples include the fight preventing "pension holidays" by which public contributions to the Fund are "forgiven" for a year or more; stopping legislation that would exempt the CPS from making statutory contributions to the Fund under the 1995 law; writing and passing health insurance rebate laws to maintain affordable health insurance for our retirees; and

2. From Walter Pilditch, Trustee

Our fund continues to grow. At the end of last quarter it totaled $12.7 billion, which is an increase of $450 million over the previous quarter in spite of higher energy costs, concerns about inflation and more weakening in the housing industry. We also saw record heights of the Standard and Poor Index and record high levels of the Dow Jones figure into the middle of July.

Standard measures of the financial health of the United States show prices somewhat up at 2.3% for the quarter (not including food and energy costs) while the Producer Prices Index in-establishing a tax-exempt charity to provide for indigent retired teachers. The list of RTAC's efforts on behalf of Chicago's retired teachers goes on and on.

RTAC's importance to every retired teacher's pension cannot be overstated. At this writing, RTAC has been allowed to intervene in a case involving a small number of pensioners whose benefits were found to have been miscalculated. Without hesitation, RTAC has stepped in, hiring attorneys to prepare intervening petitions to the Chancery Division of the County Court and interceding on behalf of the affected retirees.

RTAC has instructed its attorneys to argue that the judge should hold the pensioners harmless and make no changes in their benefits because they "come with clean hands," that is, they did nothing wrong but only relied on the experts at the CPS and the Pension Office to make irrevocable retirement decisions. By the time you read this we will likely know whether we were successful in protecting the affected pensioners from any reduction in the benefits they are already enjoying.

Why any retired Chicago teacher would not be a member of RTAC is certainly beyond my understanding. As the current case clearly illustrates, RTAC is our first line of defense.

creased at a rate of 5.6% for the year. Production capacity increased to 82.3%, about a percent higher than the first quarter. Unemployment remains at 4.5%, just about what it has been recently. Oil prices are reaching new highs during the middle of 2007 and Treasury bond interest levels were rising to 5.26% in June.

Upon receiving information from our investment consultants, Mercer, we will review the major investment strategies for our fund:

1. Large cap domestic equities returned

5.9% for the spring quarter. (Continued next page) average results for the quarter

From Walter Pilditch, Trustee, cont'd.

2. International equities came in very strong at 6.7% for the quarter.

3. Small cap stocks came in relatively low at 4.4% during the same period.

4. Fixed income results show a loss of about one-half percent for the spring.

5. Real estate equity figures are down while private real estate went up 3.6%

6. All of the other asset classes produced

The results in the Illinois House and Senate relative to our Fund are almost nil. We did receive the usual $65 million health insurance figure to continue the rebate you enjoy each month. To answer a question asked by several persons, we have 32,090 contributors to the fund (those in active service) and 22,105 retirees at the present time. We salute Kevin Huber, the CEO of our Pension Fund, for his outstanding report to the officials in Springfield on the status of our figures. They look good and we are proud of that fact.

Please don't forget to vote in the upcoming election for the three trustees representing all retirees.
premiums.

From Vaughn J. Barber, Trustee

The Retired Teachers Association of Chicago (RTAC) began its operation in 1926. It began on the premise that although retired teachers were no longer in the mainstream of the teaching profession, the interests, concerns and needs of these retired teachers should be heard. This year, the association is 10,000-plus strong and represents a voice to be listened to in the deliberations of the Chicago Teachers Pension Fund (CTPF). To that end, three members of RTAC sit on the Pension Board of Trustees.

The CTPF gets monetary contributions from state and local governments, but one of its major sources of revenues is through its investments. How has CTPF fared in 2007?

Springfield this year has provided a "maintenance level" of funding for CTPF. Though CTPF presented an aggressive legislative program for 2007 to provide a more equitable level of funding, the State legislature returned the $75 million in the upcoming year to fund its health insurance program as well as a small portion of its pension costs. This was an increase from $65 million which would allow CTPF to continue rebating current retirees at 70% of their health insurance

The record legislative overtime session in Springfield and the uncertainties relative to budget matters contributed to a session which saw very little in any funding increases. We need your help. Please contact your state legislators and thank them for the funding that was provided for 2008, and ask that they continue to support CTPF funding and provide for future increases and allocations that reflect a more equitable level of funding.

In July I participated in a Program for Advanced Trustee Studies at Harvard Law School. The program was designed to enhance Trustees' understanding of the "prudent investor." Where the majority of assets are invested lies not with the ultimate asset-owner, but rather with a small number of principals and their agents.

J.P. Morgan Chase in their "Eye on the Market" report of 8-07, states that for the stock market, these are extraordinary times. But they are not so extraordinary. We've had an 8% correction in the benchmark S&P 500 since the peak, and, since 1929, there's been an 8% market correction

(See PENSION NOTES p. 10)

LEGISLATION COMMITTEE REPORT

By Ethel Philpott

Public school teachers, like many other public servants, are very much creatures of their state legislatures. Legislators control the purse strings, and although teachers can go on strike, Boards of Education are necessarily limited in what they can do because of that control.

Retired public school teachers are in a far worse position. A strike against the Pension Fund seeking larger pensions would not likely succeed. Retiree incomes and conditions are a direct reflection of this political powerlessness. It is a matter of small concern – sadly, even among retirees – that hundreds of long-time retired CPS teachers have pensions below the poverty level.

One of the Standing Committees of RTAC, the Legislation Committee deals directly with this situation in two ways. First, it acts as a sentinel and alerts the Association to any threat to our pension and/or healthcare benefits. Second, the Committee acts as an instigator of actions that will preserve help and/or enhance our pension benefits.

Ethel Philpott

Seen from this perspective, if the Legislation Committee is not the most important in the Association, it is certainly near the top.

A very few years ago, when our healthcare rebate ended, the late Tom Corcoran led RTAC in forming a coalition joined by the CTU, the CPS, the Pension Fund and RTAC, to bring pressure to bear on the Illinois State Legislature to resolve the situation. So successful was the drive that legislators were pleading with us to call off the campaign. When an agreed-upon solution was proposed, the legislature passed it within two weeks.

The Legislation Committee seeks to consolidate this latent political power into an effective voice that will command attention in Springfield, from which all of our solutions must come. We have an effective and active lobbyist who will help guide us, but we will require both additional manpower and ideas. We need people to monitor Springfield on the Web; we need people who can inspire and inflame. Can you help? Contact Ethel Philpott at the office (312-939-3327).

in 80% of the years that followed. A 10% correction happened two-thirds of the time indicating that it's almost something to expect, rather than Halley's Comet. Corporate profits are leveraged, volatile and subject to change, so it's part of the landscape of equity investing.

The report goes on to say that some of what's happening is extraordinary. It makes sense for consumer discretionary and bank stocks to be declining since there are signs of slowing consumer spending ahead, housing hasn't found a bottom, and there are hundreds of millions in underwater bridge loans on bank and broker balance sheets.

With the uncertainty of the government sources for maintaining an adequate financial position, CTPF has successfully implemented investment strategies which have allowed the fund to grow to $12.7 billion. It is the responsibility of the Trustees you elect to see that these investments continue to grow and that your pension remains solvent.

Dr. Laske Resigns

It was with regret that RTAC officials accepted the resignation of Dr. David L. Laske. An RTAC director since January 2006, Dr. Laske was forced to resign due to failing health. We regret his loss and wish him well.

An election will be held via mail-in ballot to fill his vacated position and that of Selma S. White who also is stepping down.

Richard Lockhart is RTAC's Professional Registered Illinois Lobbyist. His firm is Social Engineering - a fifty-year-old firm that understands Illinois politics and knows Illinois politicians. He reports not only quarterly and at the end of sessions, but whenever a vital RTAC issue is pending. For instance, Dick reports that our $75 Million Dollar appropriation from the Illinois General Assembly is still intact in the new, just-passed, state budget — Dick saved it from Governor Rod's line veto knife. His end of session report follows.

Bob Bures

THE BUDGET HAS PASSED (FINALLY!) AND THE BEAT GOES ON

By Dick Lockhart

The record-setting session of the General Assembly finally passed the budget for FY'08, but...The pain inflicted is not over—in fact, it will get more intense. The Governor has promised to reduce that budget by $500 million and to re-allocate that money to some kind of a State healthcare or health insurance program. Most, maybe all, of those reductions will impact what he calls “pork,” but legislators call “member initiatives.” There are hundreds of them in the budget (HB3866). Each “initiative” benefits some organization, school district or municipality. They and the legislator who tries to help them will be very unhappy with out Governor.

The State Constitution gives the Governor the power to reduce appropriations and to eliminate specific line item appropriations. The General Assembly has the power, during the “veto” session to restore those cuts. However, Senate President Emil Jones has stated that the Senate will not vote to do so. That would mean the cuts remain.

However, the Governor does not have unlimited power to create law, to allocate funds, or to impose taxes. He has a 2% transfer authority over appropriations, and he has the power to initiate State government reorganization, under certain conditions. He also has the power to amend legislation which has passed the House and Senate. When he does, the bill goes back to the Legislature during the “veto” session in the fall.

For his change to go into effect, a simple majority vote is required. To reject his change and to restore the original language, a three-fifths vote is necessary. If neither happens, the bill is dead. Therefore the Governor has a better chance of prevailing with appropriations than he does in changing the text of legislation, and the General Assembly is in a better position to reject the Governor's proposed statutory changes.

For example, House Rule 78 provides that motions to accept the Governor's amendments shall be automatically referred to the Rules Committee. However, motions to override the Governor's amendatory veto “may be immediately considered and adopted.” The Speaker of the House views the “amendatory veto power” a violation of the “Separation of Powers” provision (Art.II, Sec. 1) of the Constitution, and I agree with him.

We will have to see what the Governor's ingenious plan turns out to be, and whether it can survive approval by the House Rules Committee. The fall “veto” session will be much more interesting than in the past.

In terms of the near future, be mindful of the events set forth below and their dates:

- 1.The Primary Election in 2008 will be February 12, and candidates must have their nominating petitions filed with the State Board of Elections not later than November 5th.
- 2.Incumbent legislators, particularly Democrats, will be facing a politically challenging situation in that they have to defend the record-breaking, and contentious, legislative session, which, however, did pass a legislative pay increase which the Governor has approved.
- 3.Although the Governor is not on the ballot in 2008, all 118 House districts are up as well as 39 of the 59 State Senate districts.
- 4.The dates for the “veto” or fall legislative session are undetermined at this time.
5. The 2008 legislative session will begin January 9; the FY'09 proposed State budget is likely to be presented by the Governor in February.
- 6.For the reasons stated, campaigns and fund-raising get started earlier than in the past and will become more intense. They begin with the Primary on February 12 (also a State Holiday)

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

Many retired teachers find that working for a worthy cause as a volunteer is extremely satisfying. The following organizations are among those who have asked us for help in recruiting. A more complete list appears on our web site at <http://www.rtac.org>. The business portion of the meeting will start at 1:15 p.m. and the latest in our health insurance, pension, and legislation before the Illinois legislature affecting us will be presented and discussed.

Any Chicago retired teacher/principal who will be in the area on October 9 is encouraged to make reservations at 619-697-4854.

YOU SAY YOU KNOW ART LEHNE?

By V. K. Brown

Nearly everyone with 20 or more years with the Chicago Public Schools has at least heard of Dr. Arthur R. Lehne. A thoroughgoing gentleman of the old school, Art progressed from elementary and high school teacher to principal to District Superintendent to Assistant Superintendent to Associate Superintendent – and yes, at one time he was asked if he would accept the position of General Superintendent of Schools.

His rapid rise through the ranks and skill at grasping new ideas, along with his courtly manner and unfailing courtesy, have made Art one of those people whom one is proud to know.

But even his friends may not know of Art's nautical past. He joined the U. S. Coast Guard during WW II, and his rise there was rapid as well. He was soon sent to the Coast Guard Academy. Then the Academy decided there was nothing more they could do for him, so they gave him his officer's commission and put him in command of his own ship, a sub chaser. When D-Day, June 6, 1944, rolled around, Art was put in command of an entire rescue flotilla and sent to participate in the invasion of Normandy. By this time, Art was an old salt of 23 years. In the summer of 2007, Art was contacted by Coast Guard officials – they had discovered Art's old command, the sub chaser, in a Seattle mothball fleet location. They invited Art out to take part in a reunion, which he gladly did. Two news sources covered the event.

MARION HOFFING'S ILLUSTRIOUS CAREER

After seeing the hit movies about dance classes in the New York City Public Schools, some may think that New York originated the idea of incorporating dance classes into the public school curriculum. Marion Hoffing, our gal-about-town reporter of THE CHICAGO SCENE, knows otherwise.

Marion was one of the instructors in an early Board of Ed program designed to bring culture to the public schools of Chicago. Marion's career involved visits to many Chicago Public Schools where she taught students the fine art of social dance. Long before the current ballroom dance craze, Marion and other dance instructors were going from school to school teaching youngsters not only the steps and moves but also the proper dress and etiquette—the amenities, as she calls them—of this important social skill.

Marion's association with the Board of Education started back when she was just 19 years old. Marion joined several other professional dance instructors who were trained by Ms. Ernestine Badt of the Board of Education to conduct the Friday evening dance instruction program at several high schools. Ms. Badt trained the instructors during the summer at the Chicago Teachers College at 6800 S. Stewart, and Marion was one of them.

After the Social Centers were started under Mr. Francis B. McKeag, Assistant Superintendent under Dr. Benjamin Willis, Ms. Badt resigned from the program, and Marion became director. "He told me I was his right hand man," she said.

Marion reminisced about the many Friday nights she supervised at Social Centers in about 20 high schools: Amundsen, Philips, DuSable, Carver, Marshall, Lindblom, Austin, Bowen, Senn, Schurz, Waller, Wells, Harper, Lane, and many others. "There were orchestras, too, every Friday night, five pieces. It was a big thing. That's where they [the students] were Friday nights, and they dressed, boys and girls....The decorum was excellentteens, dancing and behaving. The evening began with dance instruction from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Then the orchestra came in," Marion said. "It was wonderful."

Marion got to meet many day teachers who helped supervise at the Social Centers, and she also made many personal friends, among them John Craig, now an RTAC director as well as recently elected Mayor of Oak Brook, Ill. He was a beginning patrolman assigned to Waller High School when Marion first met him. Another young patrolman of Marion's acquaintance was Ben Hoffing, assigned to Wells High School. Not only was he the very first "Officer Friendly" in the Chicago Public Schools, Officer Hoffing also became Marion's husband.

Officer Hoffing had a wonderful rapport with the students. "If any Wells students got into trouble and ended up at the police station, they would call him and he'd go to help out," Marion said. In recognition of his outstanding work with the youth in the Wells High School area, Ben received an award from the Commission on Human Relations. Years later, he was inducted into the Senior Citizens Hall of Fame.

Ben Hoffing passed away in 2001. The Hoffings were married 54 years, and for many of them, they taught dance together as a team.

Retiring in 1977, Marion soon became an active member of RTAC. One of the board members, Mr. Rothe, retired Assistant Principal from Lane Tech, asked her "to do something cultural around 1980," Marion said. She went right to work, naming her column "The Chicago Scene." Twenty-seven years later, "The Chicago Scene" remains one of the most popular features of the RTAC News Bulletin.

"You have to keep going" is Marion's philosophy, and she certainly has.

IN MEMORY OF JOAN PHILLIPS

It was always an adventure to go to Saugatuck, Michigan, and meet Joanie for lunch. We were retired and at leisure, but the fun was recalling working together for over a quarter of a century at Jones Commercial.

Joan Phillips was a versatile business teacher, teaching business math, typing and accounting as well as coordinating the work program; I was an English teacher. We shared the same offbeat sense of humor; Joanie's laugh would send a wave of laughter through the faculty.

At lunch, my wife knew that Joanie would remember and ask about each of our four children and our grandchildren. She had a great memory for events and details. She would recall trips she and her sister Nancy had taken, especially the trips concerning genealogy.

Joanie Philips inspired and placed on jobs hundreds of students, and she was always careful to see to it that her students were reasonably well paid.

All who knew and worked with her will miss her sense of humor, her intelligence, her laugh and her commitment to her community.

Rest in Peace, Joan Phillips.

Since you won't be hearing from us again until next year, the RTAC News Bulletin editor and staff want to wish you all the best for the holidays and the coming year. Here's a little something to think about while writing those holiday cards. . . .

A HOLIDAY VERSE

We have a list of folks we know all written in a book,

And every year when Christmas comes we go and take a look.

And that is when we realize that these names are a part

Not of the book they're written in, but of our very hearts.

For each name stands for someone who has crossed our path sometime,

And in that meeting they've become the rhythm in each rhyme.

And while it sounds fantastic for us to make this claim,

We really feel that we're composed of each remembered name.

And while you might not be aware of any "Special Link,"

Just meeting you has changed our lives a lot more than you think.

For once you've met somebody, the years cannot erase

The memory of a pleasant word or of a friendly face.

So never think our Christmas cards are just a mere routine of names upon a Christmas list, forgotten in between.

For when we send a Christmas card that is addressed to you,

It's because you're on the list of folks that we're indebted to.

For we are but the total of the many folks we've met

And you are one of those we prefer not to forget.

And whether we have known you for many years or few,

In some way you have had a part in shaping things we do.

And every year when Christmas comes we realize anew

The best gift life can offer is meeting folks like you.

And may the spirit of Christmas that forever endures,

Leave its richest blessing in the heart of you and yours.

From her home on Twisted Oaks Drive in San Antonio, Tex., Gloria Turner McCorkle writes:

How delighted I was to see my poem “To Have and to Hold” in the April RTAC Newsletter. I am enclosing two more which you might use at some time. (See below.)

Since retirement has allowed me to indulge in my great love of poetry writing, I have completed six volumes and many singles on various subjects. These two poems, “Rest Darling” and “To Have and to Hold” were taken from my volume titled Verses on Death and Grief. “Welcome Home” was a single written for a family member. I felt they were applicable to the Newsletter Section “Friends Gone Ahead.”

My familiarity with and purpose for addressing the subject stems from my being a licensed mortician—hence, Grief Counselor—and my having been reared by a family of very compassionate morticians.

When I retired from the Chicago Board of Education in 1990, I was working with the Hinton School Closed Circuit T.V. a la days of Carol Nolan.

Best wishes.

Yours sincerely,

Gloria Turner McCorkle

Rest Darling

No more pain and suffering
No more valiant effort to hold
That long untenable
No more keeping pretense for our sake
No more.
The fight was swift
The fight was fierce
A soldier brave, fought
But this last battle lost.
Yet no empty loss, this
For memory becomes our godsend
Bringing back happy times
Days full of life, love, happiness
Memory locks in these many treasures
To be called upon—when needed.
Now, no more battles my precious fighter
No more worry, nor frustrations
You’ve earned this sweet release
So rest now darling
Rest.

Gloria Turner McCorkle

Welcome Home

I will not mourn
Because I can no longer touch, hold or kiss you.
Nor shall I mourn
The loss of your treasured advice, sage wisdom,
I won’t be greedy.
For as you took the step of transformation
Leaving this short interval of life
To enter the timelessness of Eternity
I envisioned
Other joyous faces, aglow with expectation
Other loving arms, outstretched, reaching
To touch, hold and kiss you
Happy voices acclaiming your arrival
And above this all——
Saw HIM smile and heard HIM say
Well Done! My good and faithful servant
Welcome Home.
